

Foundations of Education Diplomacy to Achieve Collective Impact

Education Diplomacy

E-LEARNING COURSE

Whether you are building a coalition, developing a new partnership, shaping a new program, negotiating an education agreement, or working on education policy reform, you can do so more effectively when using the tactical skills of Education Diplomacy.

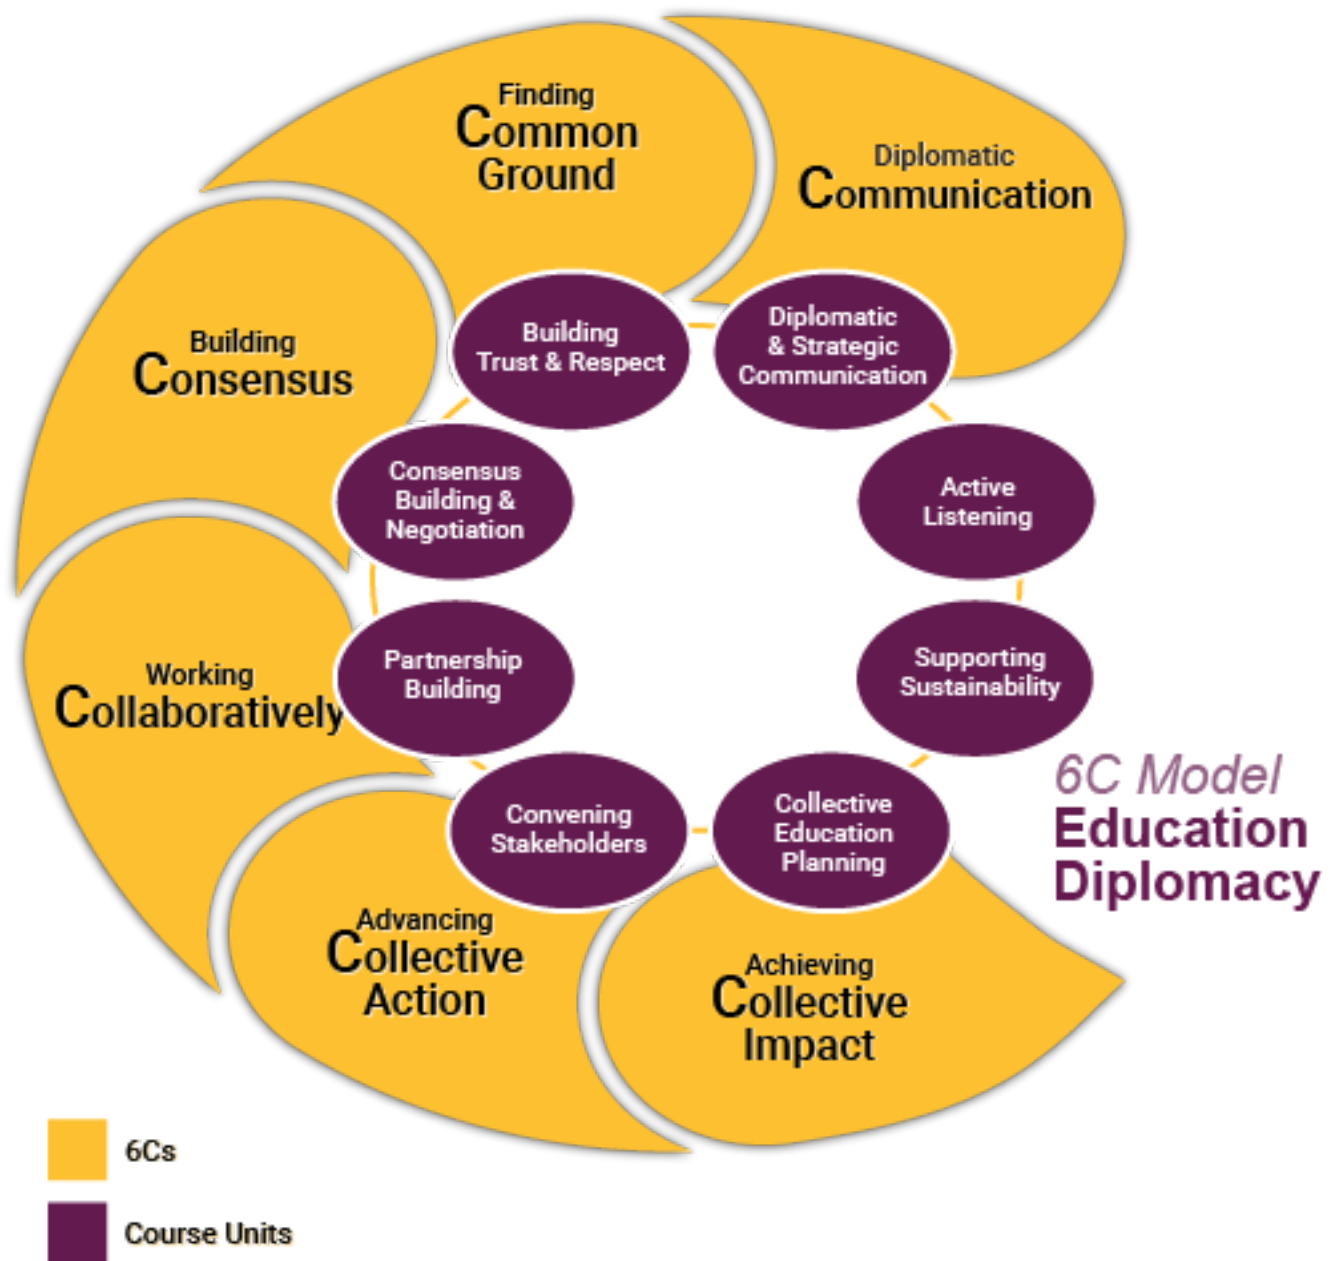

CE International has listened to, supported, coached, and trained thousands of professionals from various specialties within the field of education. In such interactions, policymakers, leaders, educators, advocates, consultants, and professionals from NGOs and government entities have shared with us their 'pain-points' – the challenges that they are working to address. These professionals have expressed their desires to effectively and efficiently collaborate and take collective action on a long-term and ultimately sustainable basis. CE International has successfully developed the concept of Education Diplomacy as the foundational skill to tackle complex issues affecting education and help groups work together to advance education agendas.

There are countless efforts to improve education worldwide.
Education Diplomacy is the way
to bring them together.
