How to Participate in the ECDtf Listserv

About the ECDtf Listserv

The ECDtf listserv is a Google Group where members share information and can, if they wish, connect with each other. The listserv is an open forum, and everyone has an individual responsibility to vet information and resources shared through the network.

As a global community concerned about children, our shared goal is to promote dialogue that is evidence-based and aligned with the highest standards of integrity and accuracy in the science of early childhood development, early intervention, and public health.

The ECDtf has over 1,700 members. Replies go to everyone subscribed, so please only respond to the full list when your message benefits all. To contact an individual member, email them directly.

Please refrain from criticizing others who are posting to the listserv. If you want to debate an issue with another listserv member, you should do so by emailing them directly rather than emailing the entire listserv.

Adhering to the Guidance below ensures everyone in the ECDtf community has an enjoyable experience. If you have a concern or a request about the listserv and need to connect with a Childhood Education International staff member, please email ymurphy@ceinternational1892.org.

We appreciate your participation!

Listserv Guidance

- Share relevant resources, including research articles and information that will benefit members and can also be included in the biweekly digest.
- Clearly cite your resource and its source. Provide the title and relevant source citation when posting a resource of any type, whether an article, report, book, video, podcast, etc.
- Include a signature tag on all messages with name, affiliation, and email address. Including your email ensures replies intended for you are sent directly, rather than to the entire listserv.
- State concisely and clearly the topic of your comments in the subject line. This allows members to respond directly to your posting and makes it easier to search the archives by subject.
- Only send messages to the full list if they benefit everyone. Replies like "thanks" or "me too" should go to individuals—use your email's forward option and address your response directly to that person.
